11:04 PM Karen: Whatcha doing? It's freezing here, 15 degrees tonight. Just got back from my bridge lesson -- it is a VERY hard game to learn.
11:05 PM me: right now I'm prepping a book excerpt for Skeptic part about Bennett and Prohibition tomorrow we have big meeting at house with our new mag people regarding Scallywag going forward
11:06 PM managed to recruit some impressive people who are willing to work for free as they agree the mag can easily bring in money soon
11:07 PM including some woman who's beautiful, makes tons of money doing freelance web design or something and has tons of free time, and who can help with back-end web stuff as well as going to events, networking, taking footage, writing also going to spend rest of evening prepping other excerpts for Vanity Fair and whomever else might be interested in buying 11:17 PM Karen: Uh.... wow. My bridge lessons now sound quite pedestrian!

Have fun, MSTG!
me: think you can find me any other work?
11:18 PM maybe you could think of some other magazines I could query?
you did a good job getting me the Vanity Fair assignments 11:19 PM Karen: Yeah, let me think about it. In the meantime I'll also send you those agent/editor lists we did last year -- maybe you'll see a name you haven't contacted yet?
11:22 PM me: I'll look, I'm ready to go to those agents now see if you can find any more of these comedy agents for me
por favor

11:30 PM Karen: Just sent agent list. Will work on updated magazine/website contacts tomorrow. Night night.
me: thanks, nighty night
